Infertility is heartbreaking and devastating. It can make you feel broken inside and helpless, crushing your dreams to have a healthy child and legacy. The Palm Beaches now have a new solution – Dr. Attila Toth and the MacLeod Laboratory – focused on identifying the underlying cause of infertility. With more than 30 years of experience, Dr. Toth recognizes and treats bacterial and pelvic infections that are a significant cause of infertility and can affect the overall health of an individual.

“I can’t tell you how many doctors I’ve seen. This is the first time I felt like my doctor is listening to me. I feel like I finally have my life back.”

Board-certified in Anatomic and Clinical Pathology and Obstetrics and Gynecology, Dr. Toth is a Clinical Associate Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the New York-Presbyterian Hospital Weil Cornell Medical Center and is bringing his extensive expertise to Jupiter. His philosophy is based on research, healing and education on the underlying causes of infertility.

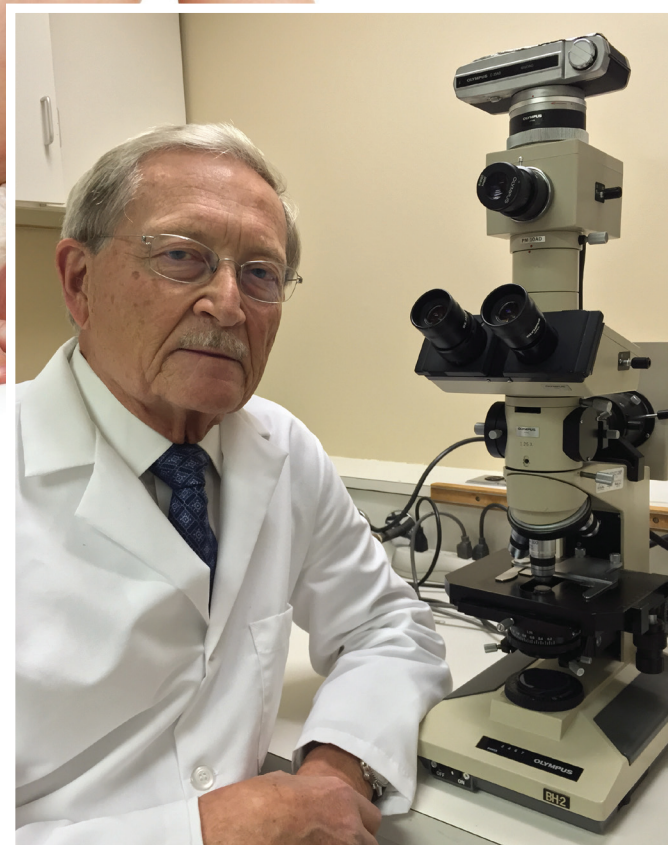

Prior to resorting to drugs or fertility procedures, our laboratory performs a comprehensive microbiological evaluation of both male and female genital canals. The screening process takes place during the first office visit following detailed history taking and a thorough physical examination of both partners. The recommendation of antibiotic therapy is based on research knowledge accumulated during the years that underscore the devastating effects bacteria have in the reproductive system, leading to infertility, miscarriages, premature birth and maternal and fetal complications.

“We spend a great deal of time explaining each step of the workup as clearly as possible while remaining mindful of the sensitive, emotional and highly personal nature of infertility therapy,” says Dr. Toth.

Dr. Toth treats both men and women offering a full scope of diagnostic and therapeutic procedures identifying and treating infertility, systemic pelvic diseases, endometriosis, prostatitis and failed IVF cycles. With over 50 publications in prestigious journals, including The New England Journal of Medicine and Lancet, Dr. Toth is a world renowned authority on infectious causes of infertility and their respective treatments.

Dr. Toth is the first physician to emphasize the correlation between gynecological and urological infections and the importance of treating the couple as a unit when addressing infertility problems. Contact the MacLeod Laboratory to make your dreams a reality.
